Eric doesn't fancy women. Fraser asks him to the football... is this a date?

ERIC AND FRASER'S story

These friends go to college together.

I would like someone special, but I do not fancy girls.

Eric is not attracted to women.

I think I fancy boys.

Eric is attracted to men.

Hello, my name is Eric.

Hello, my name is Fraser.

Eric meets Fraser.

A photograph of three men sitting at a white table in a modern building with large windows. The man on the left has curly hair and a beard, wearing a dark jacket. The man in the middle has short dark hair, wearing a grey jacket and a red and white striped scarf, with his arms crossed. The man on the right has short dark hair, wearing a dark jacket and a red and white striped scarf. They are all looking towards the man in the middle. The background shows a bright, modern interior with large windows and a view of a green landscape.

Do you like football?

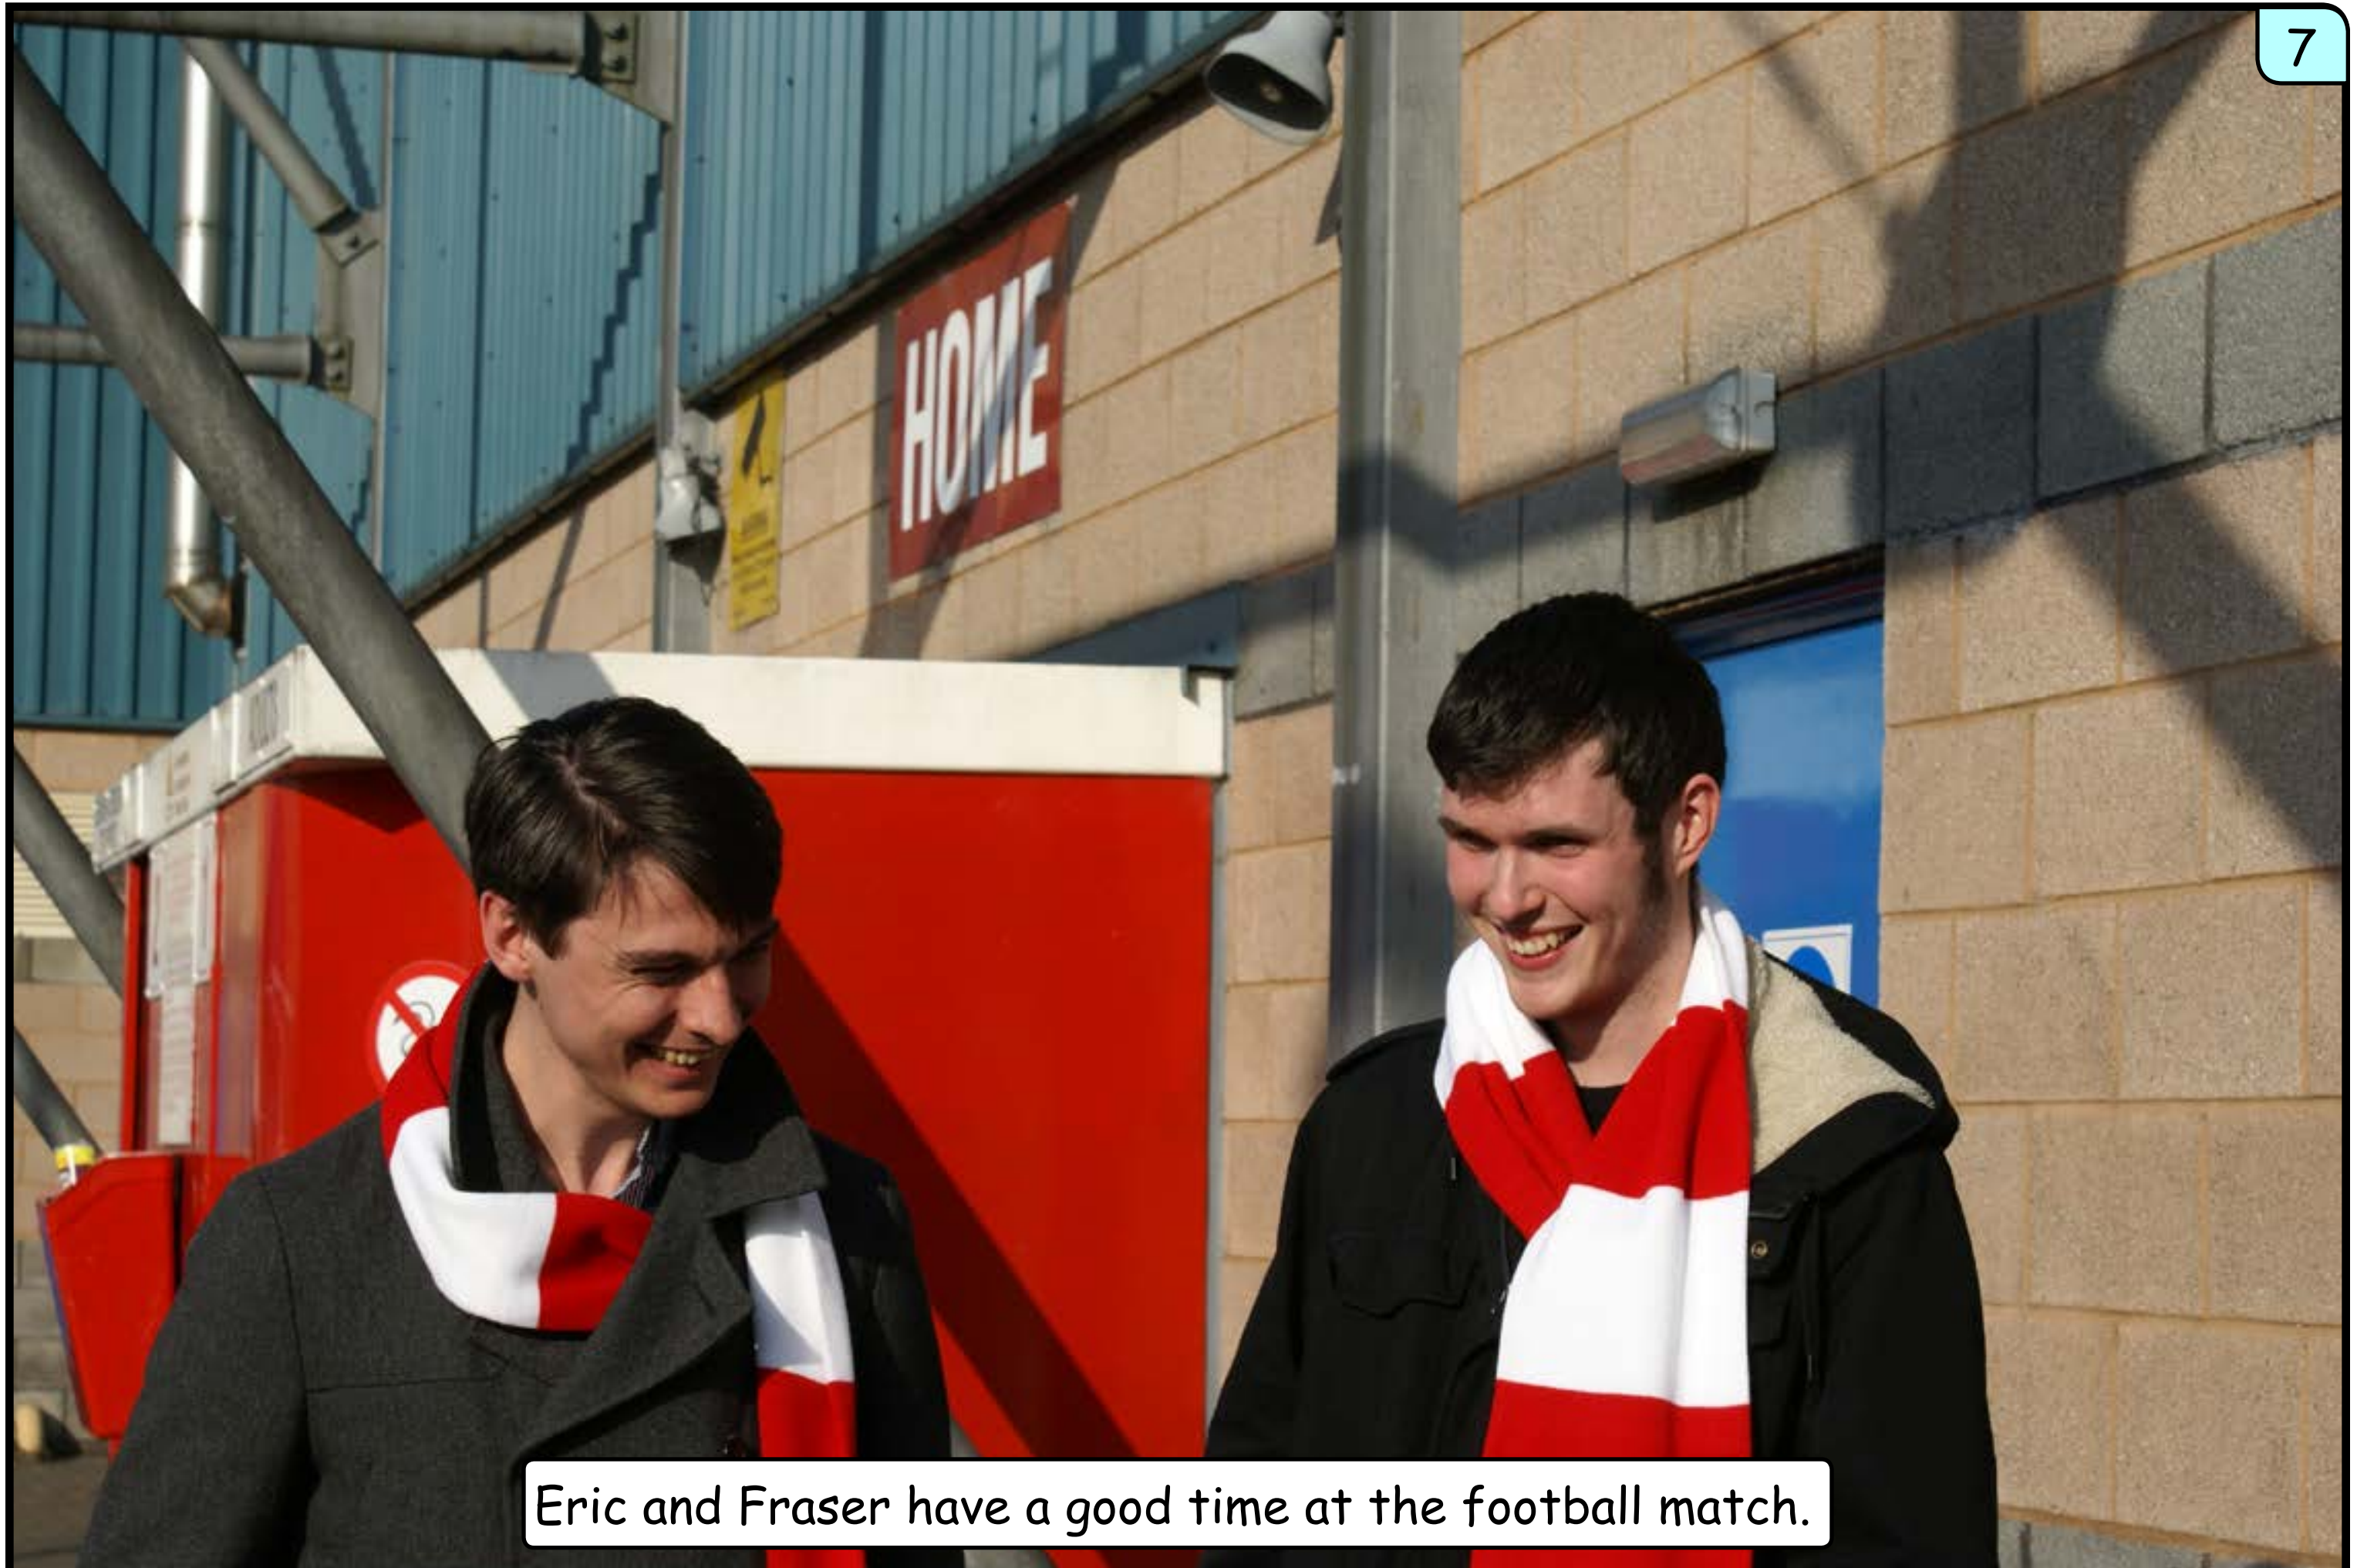

Yes I go every week.

Fraser and Eric like lots of the same things.

Do you want to come to a match with me?

Yes please.

Eric and Fraser have a good time at the football match.

A photograph of two young men standing on a paved path outside a stadium. They are both wearing dark jackets and red and white striped scarves. The man on the left is gesturing with his right hand. In the background, there is a large green stadium structure with a cantilevered roof, a stone wall with blue doors, and hills under a blue sky with some clouds. A tall stadium light pole is visible in the distance. Two speech bubbles are overlaid on the image, containing the text of the conversation.

That was fun,
can we go out again?

Yes, that would be nice.

Will you come to my house and help me with some college work?

Eric phones Fraser the next day.

Yes, I'll come in half an hour.

Fraser agrees to go to Eric's house.

Fraser helps Eric with his college work.

I need to go home now.

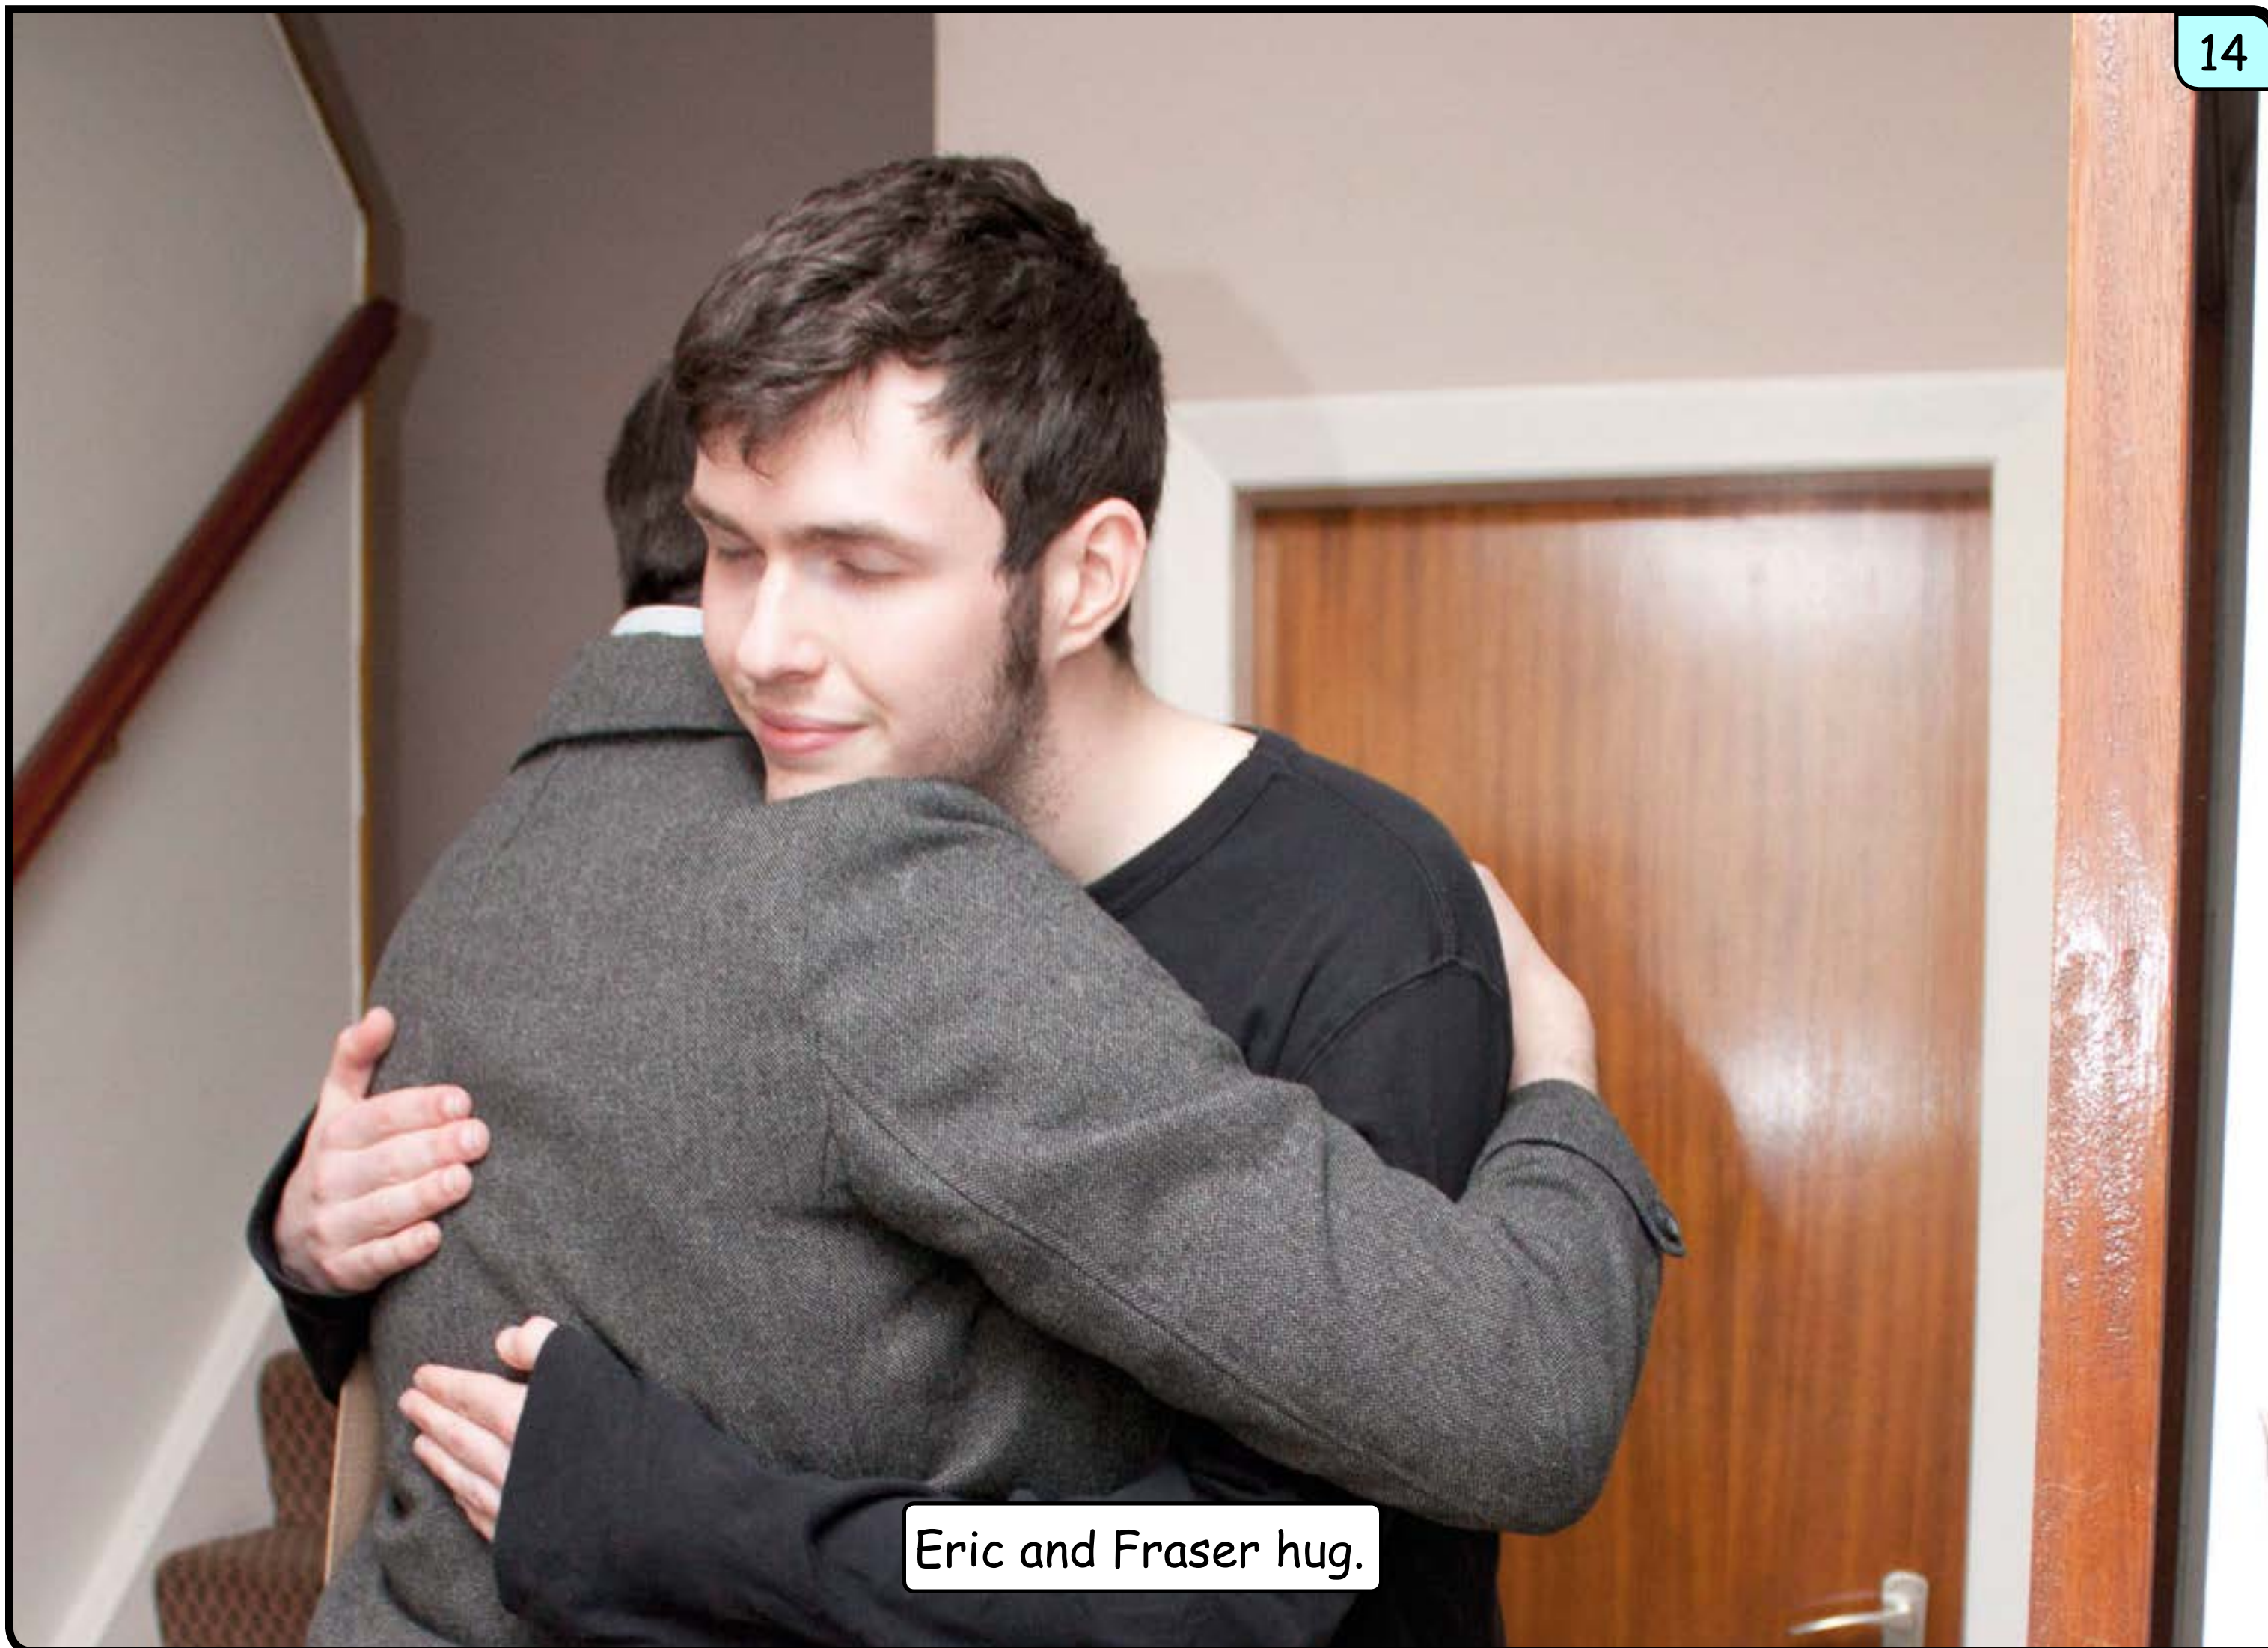

Ok, thank you for helping me.

They finish their college work.

Before Fraser leaves, Eric asks him for a hug.

Eric and Fraser hug.

Would you like to come to my house
tomorrow?

Yes. I'll bring my new DVD.

Fraser and Eric arrange to meet again.

I really fancy Fraser.
I wonder if Fraser
fancies me?

Eric thinks about Fraser.

Fraser and Eric watch a DVD together.

Is it Ok if I hold your hand?

Yes, that would
be nice.

Fraser and Eric hold hands.

Will you be my boyfriend?

Yes, I'd like that.

Fraser and Eric spend lots of time with each other.

They go to the pub.

The next week they go to the park.

One day they go swimming.

Another day Eric meets Fraser's mum.

Eric is my boyfriend.

Eric and Fraser tell their friends that they are going out together.

I cannot be friends with you if you are gay.

Being gay is disgusting.

Some of Eric's friends are unhappy when they find out that he is gay.

Eric feels sad.

Don't be upset, it is Ok to be gay.

Fraser makes Eric feel better.

Let's go to the LGBT group and meet some gay people.

Eric and Fraser decide to go to the LGBT group. (Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual and Transgender Group.)

Eric and Fraser go to the LGBT group.

Eric and Fraser make some new friends.

A young man with dark hair and a light beard, wearing a white long-sleeved shirt, is sitting on the left. He is looking towards the right. An older man with a mustache and glasses, wearing a red and blue checkered shirt, is sitting on the right. He is looking towards the young man. They are in a library with white bookshelves filled with books in the background. A speech bubble is pointing from the older man towards the young man.

'Coming out' means telling people you are gay.

At the LGBT group, Eric gets advice and support on 'coming out'.

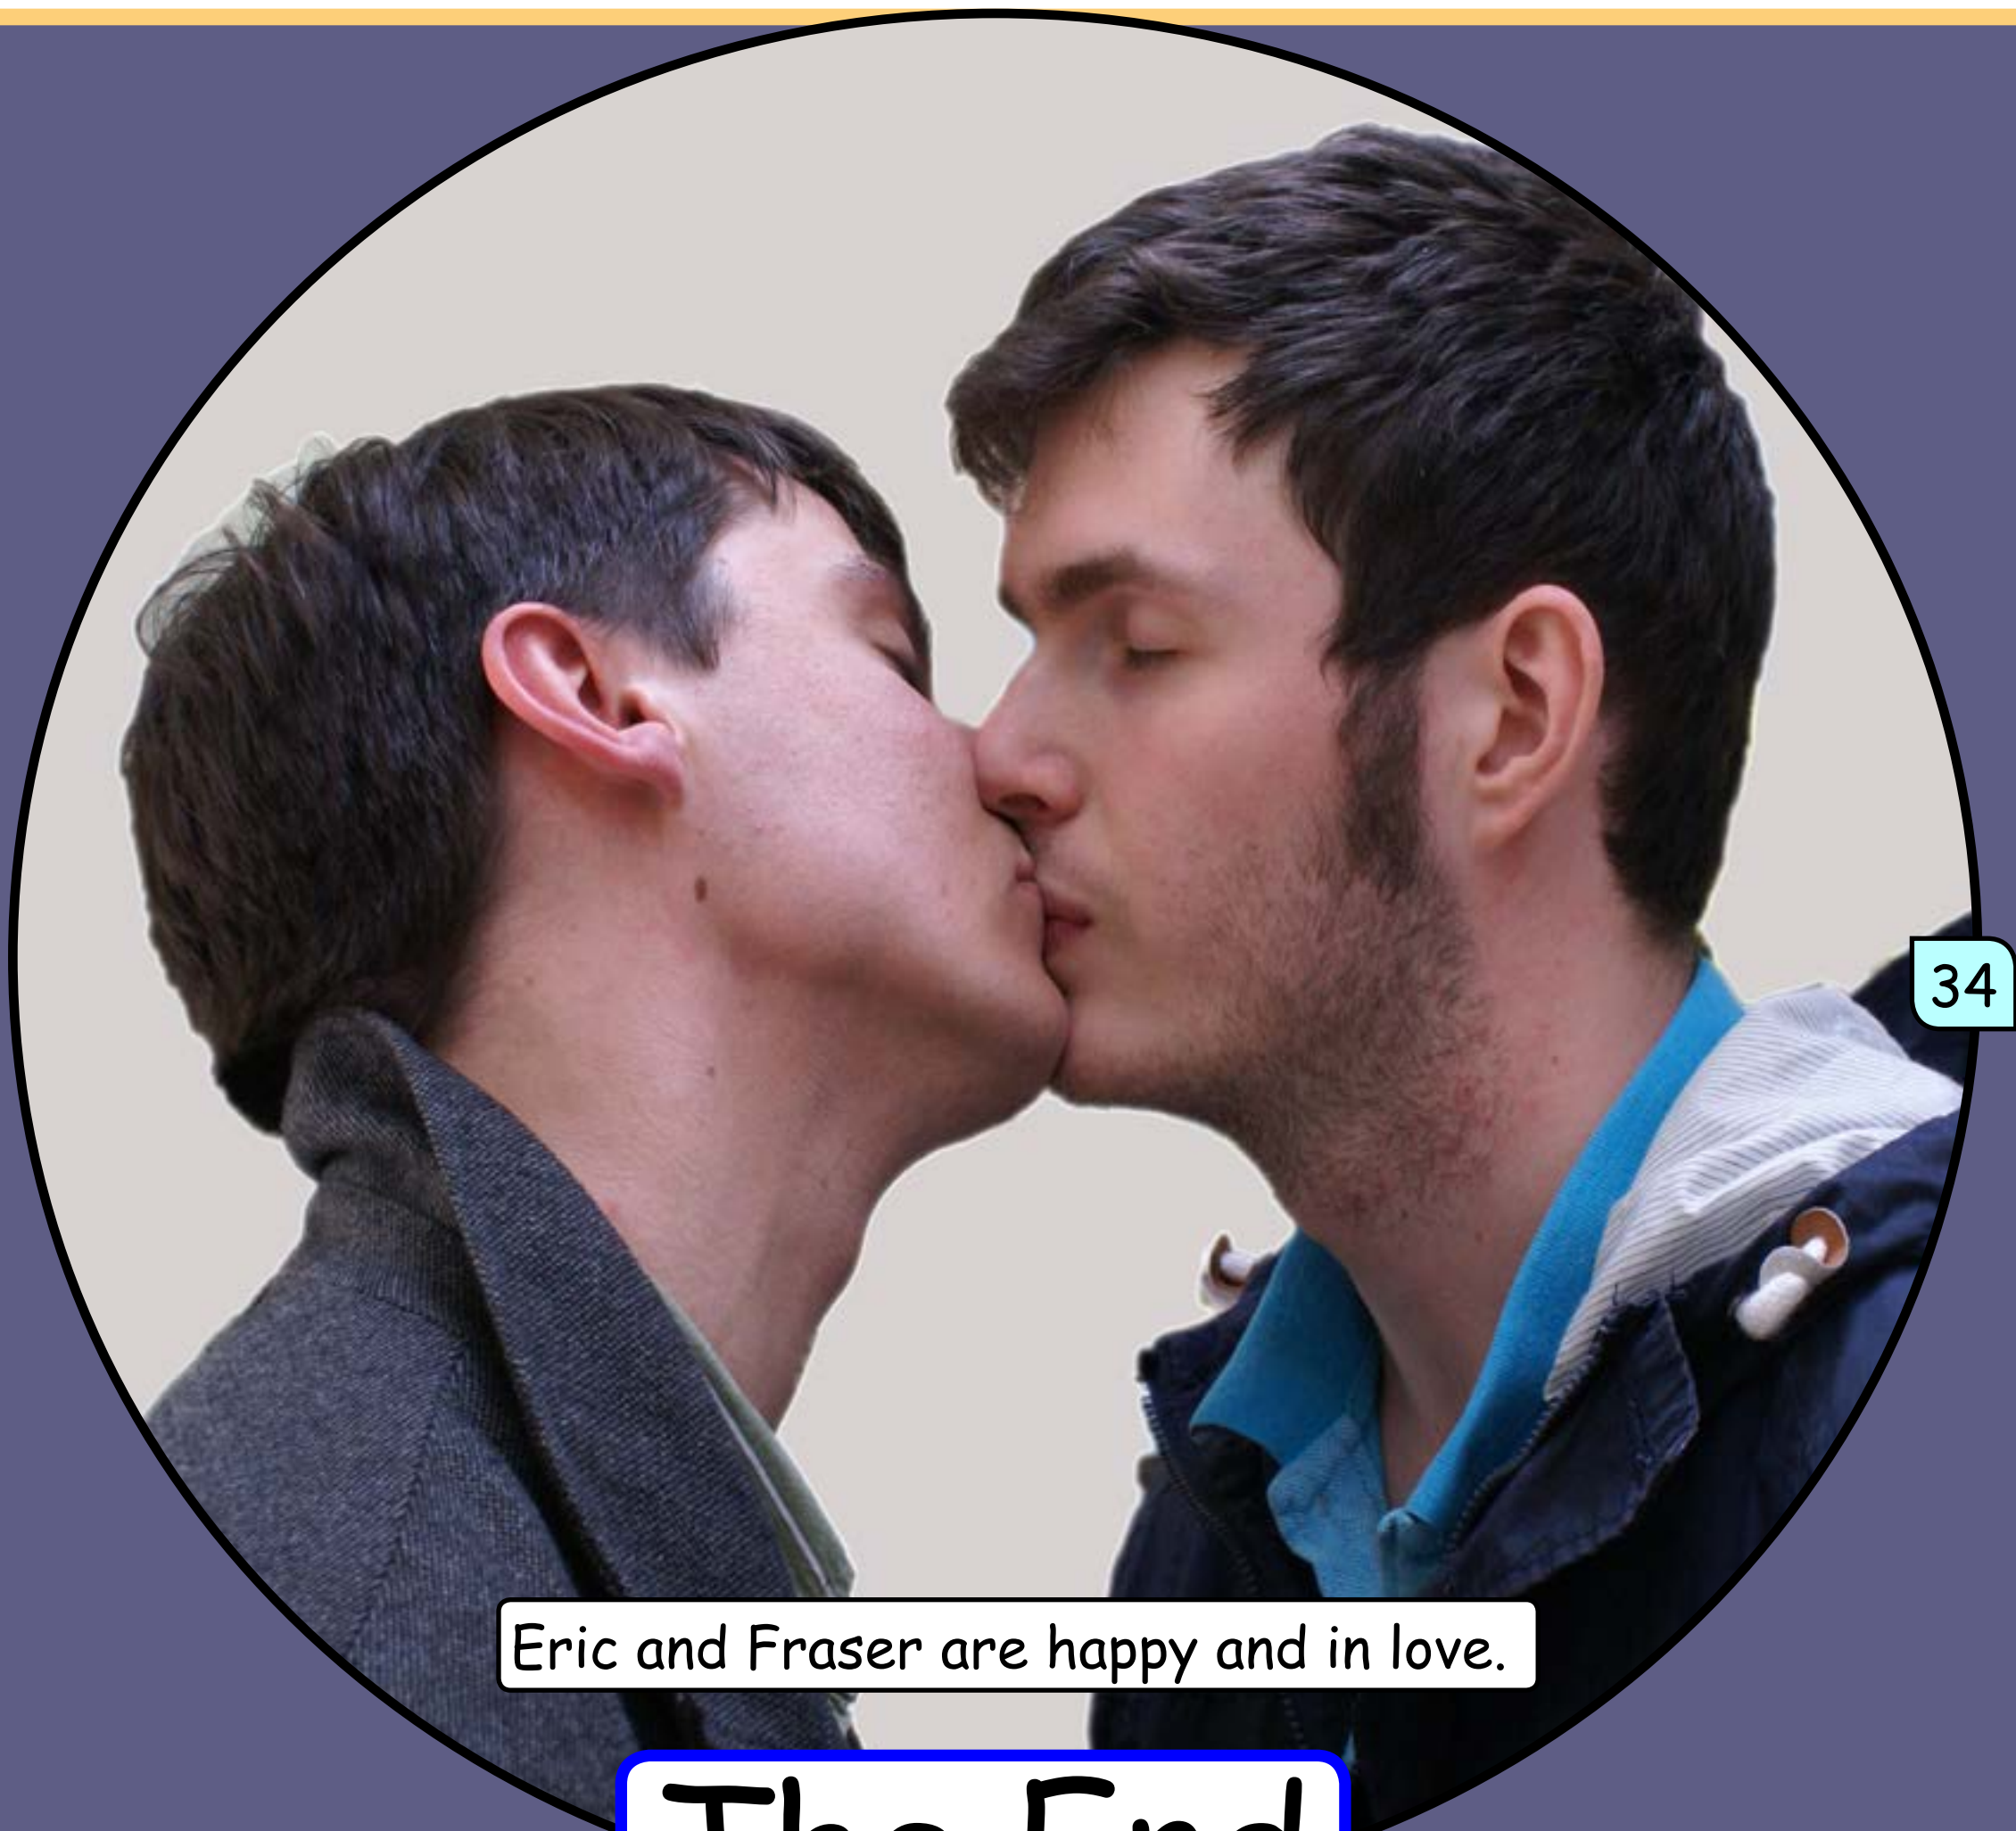

A man in a plaid shirt and glasses is sitting at a small white round table, showing several packets of condoms and lubricant to two young men. The young man in the center, wearing a purple V-neck shirt and a watch, is looking at the packets. The young man on the right, wearing a white long-sleeved shirt and jeans, is also looking at the packets. They are in a room with large windows overlooking a parking lot with several cars. A speech bubble from the man in the plaid shirt contains the text: "If you have sex you need to use condoms and lubricant."

If you have sex you need to use condoms and lubricant.

Fraser and Eric get condoms and lubricant.

Condoms and lubricant help protect you from sexually transmitted infections.
